Vice - Chancellor's Message

Indian constitution envisages the values of freedom, equality and fraternity. In order to realise these values, education has to play a constructive role. There should be freedom and equality in education. Education should be a means for freedom and equality. Distance Education has emerged from this concept so as to provide freedom and equality in learning process. Hence, the system has emerged as an important branch of education with sprouting of self motivated students.

In order to bring education to the doorsteps of those who were deprived of educational opportunities because of the limitations of time, place and space in conventional system, Kakatiya University established School of Distance Learning and Continuing Education (SDLCE) in the year 1989. The School of Distance Learning and Continuing Education is imparting knowledge and suitable skills through distance mode with the conviction of realising constitutional objectives. The School has been in forefront of higher education with a commitment to accomplish its goals of imparting quality education in our State.

Integration of various teaching technologies along with the traditional teaching methods and with the objective of 'student-centered' learning the school provides equal educational opportunities through distance mode for a large section of the population, including those in employment, house-wives and youth who wish to upgrade their educational qualifications. In the recent period, the University Grants Commission - Distance Education Bureau (UGC - DEB) has initiated several changes in the ODL system throughout the country to enhance the quality of education and streamline the system. I hope these measure will lead to new developments, add new courses and advanced technologies in imparting open and distance learning to meet the dynamic changes of our country.

I appeal the students to actively participate in the learning process and enrich their knowledge and stand equal to their counterparts in the Conventional University in all aspects.

With best wishes

Vice-Chancellor

Prof. Thatikonda Ramesh

Registrar's Message

I am glad that the School of Distance Learning & Continuing Education, KU has introduced CBCS Semester Pattern for Under-Graduate and Post-Graduate courses being offered through ODL mode in conformity with the guidelines of UGC - DEB, New Delhi. It is also understood that SDLCE is following the Regulations of UGC - DEB with matters concerning to territorial jurisdiction of the University and for establishment of Learners Support Centres and Examinations Centres.

The SDLCE is making all efforts to provide Self Instructional Materials to its learners in time and also arranging face - to - face and Online Contact class. It is making good efforts in strengthening its delivery mechanism to provide quality services to its learners. It presently offers 26 courses which includes UG and PG programmes and has an enrollment of about 40,000 students.

The Open and Distance Learning (ODL) in the country is being streamlined through its UGC - DEB Regulations and hope SDLCE will accomplish its objectives to reach the unreached and fulfill the educational needs of our State in particular.

I wish SDLCE will stand up to its expectations in serving its learners with continued commitment and retain its position to be the largest dual mode University in our State.

All my best wishes to ODL Learners.

Registrar

Prof. B. Venkataram Reddy

Director's Desk

The School of Distance Learning and Continuing Education (SDLCE) has been popular in our Telangana State by providing equal educational opportunities through open and distance learning (ODL) for the past three decades to those who missed the opportunity of taking advantage of the conventional mode of learning. It has been providing conducive learning environment in order to erase the distance between the learner and the institution.

The SDLCE is recognised by UGC - DEB, New Delhi and offers approved UG and PG programmes courses that are offered in the conventional University. It provides quality self Instructional materials and face - to - face contact and online contact programmes. From the academic year 2020-21 it has introduced the CBCS - Semester system for UG and PG Programmes as per the UGC guidelines and equalises the degrees conferred by the University. This is a great advantage to ODL learners in terms of equivalence of degrees and for providing equal opportunities for employment in State and Central government sectors.

The School has a network of learner Support Centres and conducts its programmes as per the UGC - DEB norms. This year, the School shall initiate more steps to strengthen its system and provide best services to its learners by reaching most of its services to their doorsteps.

We wish the students to make best use of the educational opportunities by enhancing their knowledge and skills and partaking in social development of our State Telangana and our Country.

Wish you all a happy learning

Director

Prof. T. Srinivasa Rao
